Miss Gertrude Benson

There is no finer gift that life can give to the true teacher than the satisfaction of looking back over a long and successful teaching career. That reward is Gertrude Benson's.

When she came to Central High School to teach, in 1926, Miss Benson was returning to her alma mater. Educated at the University of Michigan, with advanced work at the University of Chicago and Michigan State University, Miss Benson forsook her major subject, biology, for mathematics, and students trained in her classes have responded to her excellent teaching techniques.

Aiming toward perfection and with meticulous attention to detail, Miss Benson has guided with smoothly functioning efficiency various clubs, graduating classes, and the National Honor Society during her thirty-six year career. Beneath her gaiety of spirit and delightful sense of humor, with which she has attracted a host of friends of all ages, lie a deep interest in and concern about the character and career of many a student, even after he has left her class or homeroom.

More than one college student has found a crisis in his education suddenly eased by a check bearing a familiar signature.

An excellent cook and a charming hostess, Miss Benson has shared with her friends, not only her attractive home on Cleo Street, but also a quaint little summer cottage tucked amid white birch and pine at Diamond Lake. Her friends travel with her, by way of her colored slides, to Europe . . . South America . . . Hawaii . . . or just to East Lansing, where her artistry with a camera and her love for flowers have captured the glories of the gardens at Michigan State University.

Asked what she plans for "retirement" years, she bubbles over with a quick answer and a twinkle in her eye: "I have a former student in Alaska that I want to visit . . . And I haven't yet made a trip clear 'round the world -"

The Class of '63 responds with a "Bon Voyage, Miss Benson!" as we affectionately dedicate to you this 1963 Oracle.

Seniors

Even if "the world will little note nor long remember," the Class of '63 will cherish its three years at Sexton, years in which we learned new facts, explored new concepts in unfamiliar fields and prepared for greater, more important things to come.

The Senior

He walks in scornful dignity,
Ignores the years before,
The present a sufficiency
This lofty Senior

To praise a lower classman's act
He treason counts, or more
For who can equal or surpass
This noble Senior?

He prates of Physics, History
He orates — what a bore —
On "Why the World's not Otherwise,"
This learned Senior

His place of honor none usurp,
Mortals and gods adore
The ruler of the Universe,
This mighty Senior

Departments And Administration

Everywhere at Sexton one finds opportunities for education. In the library, the laboratory, the classroom and on the athletic fields one also finds the instructor ready and willing to give of his time to help the student who is trying to learn. Our faculty and administration are well prepared, competent, and proficient in the use of principles and methods of teaching to induce learning.

Activities

There is more to a school than scholastic achievement. Students must gain a knowledge of how to work with and understand people. The many varied clubs and extra-curricular activities which Sexton high school provides for its students are a source of invaluable experience. These activities give students a chance to create goals and to meet them with their own initiative.

ORACLE Staff Captures School Year

Editorial

Carol Boehm and Diana Huntington work hard to think up captions for the Departments section of the Oracle.

Five persistent deadlines forced the 1963 Oracle editorial staff to spend hours of overtime on copy, layout, and photography. Editor-in-chief was Chuck Henderson. Galen Watterson filled the positions of photographer and assistant editor. As sports editor, John Michelson was aided by Steve Scheffel. The Co-editors of the senior section were Suzanne Neller and Debbie Payne. In charge of departments and administration was Carol Boehm, assisted by Diana Huntington. Lynn Converse headed the clubs and activities section, aided by Mary Gottshall and Susie Crockett. Music editor was Bill Hunsberger, helped by Nancy Quackenbush. The underclassmen section was handled by Linda Pritchard. Staff typist was Holly Addison and art editor was John C. Anderson. The all-school index was compiled by Sandy Stabler. Others who helped were Rosie Hudnut and Mary Wolfe. The editorial work was supervised by Miss Florence Fuller, while the business portion was directed by Mr. Robert Rentschler.

Suzie Neller and Mr. Cigard look over advertising layouts

Publication of the Zodiac was highlighted this year by the appearance of the Maniac edition on April Fools Day. This zany edition comes out every three years for the enjoyment of Sextonites.

Since its first publication in 1908 at old Lansing high school, the Zodiac has been put out ten times a year by its volunteer staff of student writers.

The purpose of the Zodiac is to print an informative and entertaining school publication and to help make its staff members better journalists.

This year's editorial staff was headed by co-editors Ramelle Myers and Michael Elders; the business staff was headed by Janet Webb; and the advertising staff by Suzie Neller. Their advisors were, respectively, Mrs. Stokes, Mr. Pence, and Mr. Cigard.

National Honor Society

Scholastic leadership at Sexton is honored with membership in the National Honor Society. Emphasizing character, scholarship, leadership, and service, a membership committee selects prospective members. No student, regardless of how high his general average may be, is considered—during the junior year—if he has even one C for a final mark. The committee makes up a list to be voted on by the faculty. Only five percent of the juniors, five percent of the senior B's, and five percent of the senior A's are chosen. This means that in the semester preceding graduation not more than fifteen percent of the graduating class holds membership in National Honor Society. The Honor Society of Sexton was first organized at Lansing Central in 1936 by Miss E. Beatrice Gibbs, who became the first advisor. Miss Gertrude Benson has been advisor for the past ten years.

First semester officers were: Jerry Little, Mary Gronner, Sandy Stabler, and Suzanne Neiler.

Future Nurses look ahead

"For a future that's bright, be a leader in white," say the Future Nurses of America. The club was organized in 1955 for all who are interested in nursing or a medical profession.

They visited such hospitals as the University of Michigan hospital, Butterworth, Ford, and many nursing schools which showed hospital life and nursing opportunities. Speakers in the medical professions provided interesting meetings this year.

Besides promoting interest in nursing, the Future Nurses held a candlelight initiation ceremony and another similar one for departing seniors. They also enjoyed such activities as canoe trips, car washes, and candy sales.

First semester officers: Treasurer, Susie Foster; president, Janet Whipper; vice president, Linda Muffitt, and secretary, Barbara Boles.

Officers: Carolyn Youngs, president; Dorothy French, vice president; Marilyn French, secretary; and Sherry French, treasurer.

Last year, Future Homemakers, who are affiliated with both the state and national F.H.A., sent two representatives to a Grand Rapids conference. Programs on modeling, hairstyling and makeup, plus one which featured slides on Germany headed up this year.

Scrapbooks for veterans were made as one project, and a Christmas basket of canned goods was sent to a family.

Learning about teaching as a career is the primary goal of Future Teachers of America. FTA is affiliated with national, state, and local education associations; it holds its charter from the National Education Association. The club sends delegates to the annual FTA Delegate Assembly each spring. Another spring activity is attendance at FTA Day at Eastern Michigan University.

Other activities of this club include the making and selling of red and white mums for the Sexton-Eastern game, making holiday decorations for hospital patients' trays, and the selling of holly at Christmas time.

Our FTA's official name is Jay Sexton club in honor of Dr. J. W. Sexton.

Cococabanita delves into Spanish

First semester officers: Juanita Grew, Ramelle Myers, Ida Mendel
 Suzanne Neller

Cococabanita is the club for students interested in learning about and enjoying Spanish and Latin American customs and language. Last fall all new members were initiated into the club by the club's president, Juanita Grew, and advisor, Mrs. Pretzer.

The club's activities for the year included its home coming float, "Beat 'Em," which won first place in the competition. On December 21, club members went caroling at the Lansing General hospital, St. Lawrence hospital, and St. Vincent's Orphanage. Other activities this year included a candy sale in January and a spring "fiesta."

The Latin club's official name is Hodierni Romani, which means Romans Today. It is a long established club which has no specific origin. Headed by Miss Marguerite McConnell, the club instituted many new activities.

A Roman wedding was presented by club members to the entire club. Something else new was added in the form of a joint meeting of all Lansing and East Lansing Latin clubs. Sexton's club sponsored a Roman play for this meeting.

Tradition was upheld this spring when the Roman banquet was held. Guests wore typical Roman costumes and dined on Roman food as well as being entertained appropriately.

Planning the next Latin Club meeting are the officers. Nancy Cook, Barbara Speight, Marsha Butler, and Pat Schaefer.

LeCercle Francais seeks fluency

Providing an opportunity to practice speaking French, Le Cercle Francais also learns of French culture and life. Observations of French holidays were discussed at meetings and were celebrated by the club if they fell on the meeting day.

An annual spring banquet combined the traditional French dining and delicious food with the fun of costumes and entertainment provided by the members.

Le Cercle Francais also participated in a program with other French clubs in the city by contributing the presentation of a play in French. Mrs. Heist is the advisor.

French Club officers map out plans for a meeting. They are Phil Phillips, sergeant-at-arms; Diana Huntington, president; Francine Libera, secretary; Robin Roulson, treasurer, and Nancy Quackenbush, vice president.

Der Deutsche Verein explores German

First semester officers: Ido Mendel, Becky Handy, Chuck Henderson and Bob Hay check over the new members.

Increasing knowledge, fluency, and understanding of the German language beyond the classroom is the objective of Der Deutsche Verein, the German club. Germany and its people are also studied.

Mr. Forester, the advisor, in speaking of the many German club activities, referred to the group caroling during the Christmas season. The carols were sung in German, and afterwards, the group had its annual party. A Christmas display in the office window wished the entire school a "Merry Christmas." The club also entertained some visitors, had a German cookie sale, and held an annual spring party.

This year Sophomore Socialites had many varied meetings. Speakers included a beautician and a woman who demonstrated gift wrapping. Such things as good grooming, poise, charm, proper etiquette, and courtesy high-lighted discussion topics at business meetings.

Before Miss Wolverton became the advisor, Mrs. Blanchard had charge of the club.

First semester officers: president, Susie Campbell, treasurer, Margo R. Platt, secretary, Rae Ellen Platt, vice president, Emmie Triplet.

Sophomores learn how to better their social skills in Sophisticated Sophs. They may also obtain knowledge of parliamentary procedure from their regular meetings every two weeks.

Every year an annual meeting is held, having a varsity club panel to answer questions on dating and other customs here at Sexton. One special project this year was a tea party, with a Christmas theme, for the mothers of the members.

Etta Ketz acquire good grooming habits

Etta Ketz tries to instill in its members the proper etiquette in all situations. It also concentrates on current fashions, hair and skin care, and good grooming.

This past year several style shows were arranged before the senior prom in June. Another program just before the senior banquet, illustrated the manners useful at the banquet.

In order to raise money, a candy sale was held during the first semester.

First semester officer: treasurer, Connie Dama; president, Pat Dutton; and secretary, B. Frye, look over club notes.

Sub Debs, an all senior club, concentrated on a varied program this year to enable everyone in the club to participate in the meetings. Flower arrangement and a panel discussion with the Sophomore Socialites about problems of sophomores in a new school headed two meetings. Other things included in their program were grooming and crafts.

This year's Christmas project was making curler caddies, shaving kit boxes, and scrapbooks for theingham Medical Hospital.

The purpose of Sub Debs is to help the girls in developing their personalities.

Miss Schlicher instructs Sue Murphy and Pat Kelly

Improving endurance and swimming skills, learning and perfecting synchronized swimming stunts, working in groups and building creative ability and a sense of rhythm are the aims of Sexton's synchronized swimming club, Dolphynettes

The girls practiced every Thursday, preparing for the annual swim show, held each spring since 1957. This year's theme was "Way Down Yonder," given on two nights, April 18 and 19. The Dolphynettes bought or made their own costumes and they selected their music. They also did decorations and publicity. The show was directed by Miss Allaire Schlicher, the club's advisor.

Each year a trophy is presented to the member who contributes the most to the club and who becomes the most skilled. This outstanding member is selected by the other members.

G.A.A. Board organizes girls' athletics

Many sports, including swimming, volleyball, bowling, basketball, shuffleboard, table tennis, badminton, and tennis, were included in the activities enjoyed by Girls' Athletic Association members this year. In city-wide competition, the swimming team came in second, and in volleyball the senior and junior teams took first. A new activity was initiated this year; Fitness and Defense, in which girls practice methods of defense.

The G.A.A. was first organized "to promote an interest in physical activities through the G.A.A."

Top girl athletes join Girls' Varsity

The honorary group of the Girls' Athletic Association is the Girls' Varsity. After having earned 650 G A A points, girls may be elected to this organization. An initiation is held for new members.

Besides the selling of basketball programs, the Girls' Varsity has other projects. An annual mother-daughter banquet, parties with the Varsity Lettermen, and redecorating their club room (the auxiliary girls' gym office), were accomplished.

Varsity Lettermen support Big Reds

The Varsity Lettermen consist of juniors and seniors who have earned a varsity letter in any athletic sport at Sexton and who qualify scholastically and in attitude. As a service club, they undertake an annual project.

This year the boys brought children from St. Vincent's Orphanage to wrestling matches and basketball games. Other activities are their annual varsity fun night held in the spring, and their colorful initiation.

Using mental agility, strategy, and patience, members of the Chess club vie weekly for a checkmate. Encouraging the playing of the game and instructing beginning players in the art and skills of playing of the game are the objects of the club. Mr. Rogers, the advisor, and the forty-member club wish to organize interschool chess matches.

Studying the chess board are the first semester officers Robert Aho, P. H. Foote, P. S. Foote, Robert Cader, and Mike Strabo.

Bridge clubs play

For both beginners and old hands at playing bridge, there are the Bridge clubs. At meetings, experienced players play, and others "learn as they go," reports Mrs. Eiserman, advisor of these two clubs.

Each week, the names of players with highest scores are posted by the cafeteria.

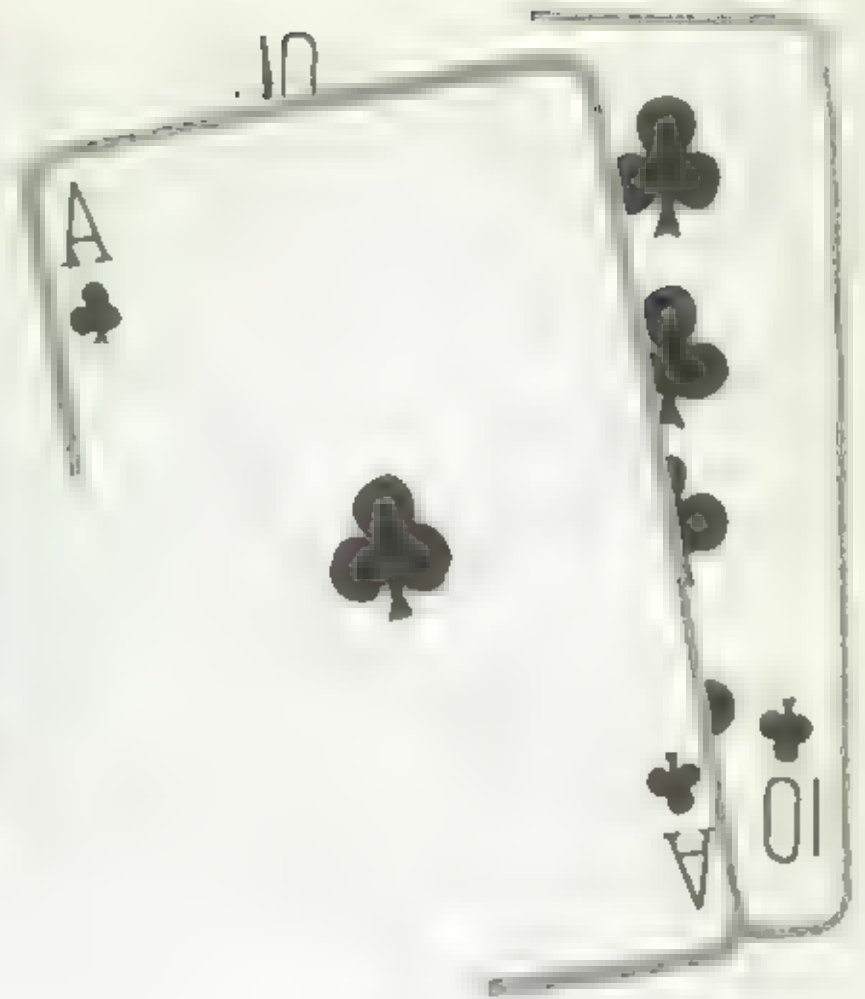

The Bridge clubs were started about twelve years ago when students finally obtained permission to play

Contract clubs learn fundamentals

Offering basic instruction in fundamental bridge rules are the Contract clubs. Beginning players learn the Goren point count system for bidding methods, how to keep score, and the techniques for winning.

Mr. Angus, who has advised the club for three years, says that the club meetings have a "friendly competitive atmosphere," and that the members hope to participate in contests.

The business meetings of Rifle X were occupied by target practice, movies on safety, big game hunting, and discussions of rifle safety

Several projects were completed jointly by both rifle clubs. They raised money by selling wall plaques in order to buy arm patches and to be able to order more movies for use next year

Last fall, Rifle X went on a skeet shoot, using a trap shooter purchased by the club the year before. Mr Rossi was advisor before Mr. Gundry took over. Rifle X is a club of long standing

Rifle Y aims to follow the National Rifle Association's program for marksmen. This includes discussing rifle safety, and shooting at standard targets from four different positions: prone, kneeling, sitting and offhand. The club combined with Rifle X on several projects

Rembrandt's Relatives advance art appreciation

The 1940's saw the advent of a new club which was organized for anyone interested in "art for art's sake." The present purpose of Rembrandt's Relatives is to promote the appreciation, enjoyment, and distribution of art. They accomplish this by group study and analysis of members' works; supervised art classes; study sessions; sketching tours, and lectures. Much of the club's work was shown in the halls this year.

The club was inactive for several years, but was started again in 1959 by Mr. Bonner. Mrs. Powell was the club's advisor during the first semester of this year.

Fostering an interest in encouraging participation in all phases of the theater are members of the very active Parrot Players. At meetings, speakers talk about lighting, make-up, and scenery designing.

Knowledge of the theater is used each semester when the members present a one act play as an assembly. The Parrot Players also give assembly presentations before the whole school at holiday time and other special occasions.

At their assembly presentations, direction and scenery are done entirely by the club members.

Another project of the club is a scholarship which is given to the most active and talented junior for the Honors Institute in drama at Michigan State University the following summer. These projects are financed by candy sales and other money making schemes.

First semester officers: secretary, Sue Ruotsala; president, Sue Ruotsala; vice president, Kathy LaRoy; chaplains, Cherry Benedict and Terry Rhodes; treasurer, Jan Spanburg; sergeant-at-arms, Randy Cragg.

Jets look into the sciences

Since organizing here at Sexton in 1956, the JETS (Junior Engineering Technical Society) have spent their meetings planning and working out the engineering details of their yearly project.

The project this year was to build a radio transmitter and to send it aloft in a helium balloon. The members then monitored radio signals received from the transmitter.

The twenty-three member club took trips to Lansing Business University and Lansing Community College as two projects this year. Speakers from businesses talked about opportunities open to girls in industry, and about the business world in general.

The present United Nations Panel was organized in 1960 under the sponsorship of Miss Laura Millar, for the purpose of studying the United Nations. The club discusses such things as the organization and function of the U.N.

This year the club had speakers at some meetings to give further information about the U.N. It also sponsored two candy sales to raise money for its annual trip to the Model United Nations Assembly held at Hillsdale College on March 15th and 16th. Sudan and Guinea were represented by the panel.

Library staff cares for books

The library staff's purpose is to help people in the library both during study halls and after school. After organizing in 1943, in September, it has grown from seven people to 32.

Each Monday the staff has a meeting, occasionally enjoying a social hour. A spring picnic also was found entertaining by the members.

Each student receives a gift certificate for varying amounts according to the number of years worked.

Debaters Capture City, District Crowns

Debate is clearly one of the most time consuming activities at Sexton. It is the debater's responsibility to learn to think critically and analytically, to use his mind within the disciplines of logic, and to reason out an issue looking at both sides. The debater must also realize there are disciplines and rules in debate as there are in any other competitive activity.

This year the debate topic was: Resolved, That the United States should join in forming a common market among nations of the Western Hemisphere. Sexton's varsity and junior varsity teams competed in 51 debates with other schools during the year and traveled over 2,100 miles to participate in debate activities.

This year was a very successful one for Sexton debaters. The varsity won the city and district championships, and the junior varsity won the capital city league championship. Again this year Sexton received from the Detroit Free Press an award for excellence in high school debating.

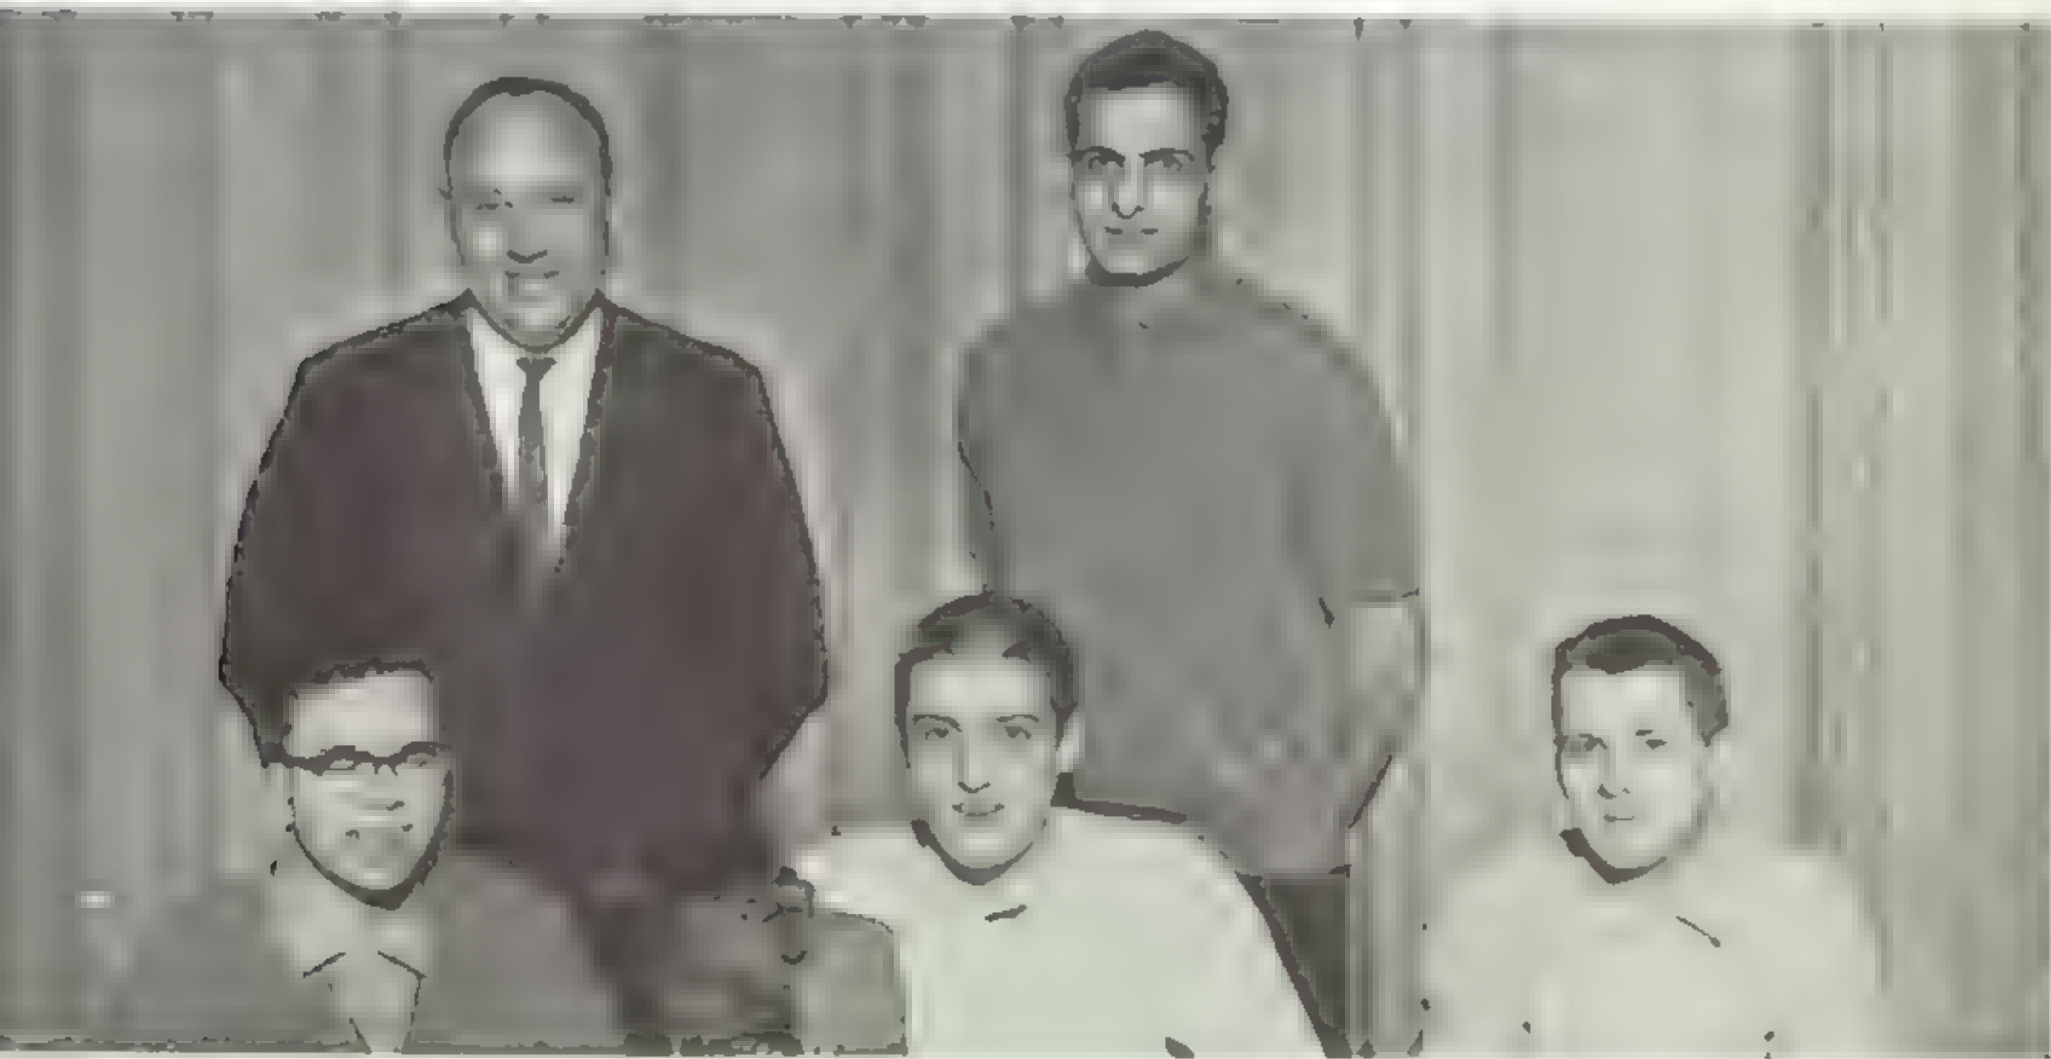

In spring forensics the contestants compete in five areas: declamation, humorous reading, original oratory, extempore speech, and interpretative reading. After the local contest, the remaining contestants competed in the district contest at Jackson high school April 5.

Doug Davis read as the projector for use in the classroom

Making sure that all the audio-visual aids and equipment in the school are in working condition is the job of the hard working, little known audio-visual department. A completely voluntary organization, the boys must give up their homeroom and some of their noon hours to work. Mr. Majdeski coordinates the efforts of these students who are often encountered in the hall carrying equipment from one room to another.

Music

The instrumental and vocal music groups at Sexton have admirably represented our school throughout the years. The year 1962-'63 was no exception. The Vocal Music Department has put on over forty programs at school, in the city, and over the state. The Marching Band has carried the name of Sexton High from coast to coast. The Pep Band has contributed inspiration to our teams and to the whole student body. With the Dance Band, Concert Band, and Orchestra, we have been able to re-live the musical past from Beethoven to Goodman.

We at Sexton can be extremely proud of our outstanding Music Department and of the two men, Mr. Corbett and Mr. McKowan, whose many hours of hard work have made it what it is.

Sexton's dance band is one to be long remembered. It has given many superb performances and has been magnificent in its appearance and tone quality. Sexton's dance band has presented excellent jazz concerts. The group was fortunate in having the opportunity to perform before a large crowd at the World's Fair in Seattle this past summer where it gave a truly great exhibition. Varied instruments have brought this band to fame among the faculty and students of Sexton High. Sexton's dance band will continue to delight its fans, not only with its musical skill but with its exotic back drops

Pep Band

The pep band has always been a source for much needed school spirit at pep assemblies and basketball games. At time-outs and half-time the band shakes the gym with a strain of the school song, the war dance or any one of its many pieces ranging from the 'St. Louis Blues' to 'The Stripper.'

Underclassmen

Although most eyes are turned to seniors and graduation at this time, it is not wise to overlook the juniors and sophomores who are making valuable contributions to Sexton high school. They are forming the goals and obtaining the experience which they will look back upon in years to come with nostalgia.

The editor of this yearbook wishes to extend her heartfelt thanks to the underclassmen for their co-operation, so necessary in this yearbook, on behalf of the entire senior class, to extend good wishes to all underclassmen for next year and the years to come.

Athletics

Loyalty to our teams, supporting them win or lose, strengthened the bond between all Big Reds. School spirit and good sportsmanship were large factors in Sexton's great sports year. We at Sexton can be justly proud of all our athletic teams. Even in those instances where defeat was our lot, we showed the sportsmanship for which Sexton is noted. Everyone likes to have championship teams, and Sexton High School is proud to have an athletic program that far surpasses the average.

The Big Red gridders kicked off the football season well with wins over Muskegon and Lansing Everett, but lost to a strong Kalamazoo Central team, 13-0. The next game took Sexton to Ann Arbor to face the 6-A champion Pioneers in a grueling heartbreaker. The Big Reds led 7-6, but a deflected pass which Ann Arbor turned into a touchdown proved fatal to Sexton and made the final score 13-7.

Spirits ran high for the Homecoming game between Sexton and the East Lansing Trojans. However, East

Lansing's defeat over the Big Reds dampened home coming activities considerably. Battle Creek Central won the following game giving Sexton a long season.

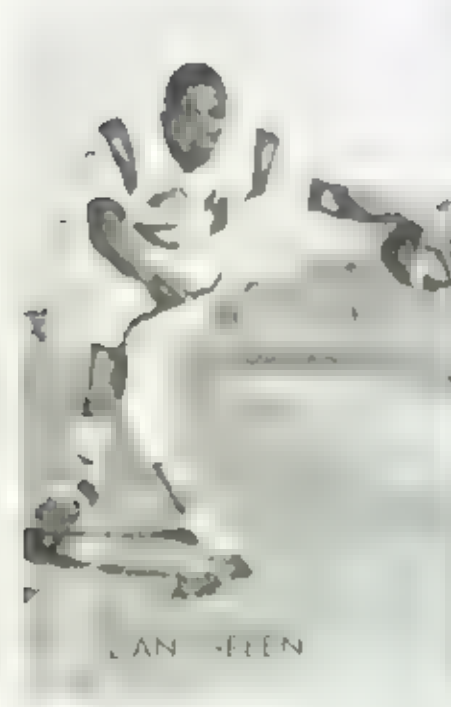

The Big Reds pulled out of their slump with a 9-0 victory over Jackson. The last game of the season found Sexton and Eastern ending in a deadlock. The two teams dueled to a 0-0 tie in a great defensive game.

Junior Varsity Football

Although the Little Reds had a rather disappointing season, next year's Big Red squad can look forward to some promising players, in the way of Bill Demmer, Cliff Foster, Ed Toomey, Pete Dykema, Walter Armstrong, and Tim Terry.

The Little Reds started the season with a 18 to 0 loss to Everett, but came through the next week with a 20 to 14 victory over Ionia. The following week they lost to Battle Creek 38 to 20. The team came up with a very good effort against East Lansing, but lost to them by one point, 20 to 19. They then traveled to Jackson and Kalamazoo, beating Jackson 13 to 6 and losing to Kalamazoo 6 to 0. In their last game of the season the Little Reds battled to a 13 to 13 tie with cross town rival Eastern. This year's co-captains were Pete Dykema and Gary Crawly. The team elected Ed Toomey the most valuable player.

With two miles to go, Gordon Dewey takes an early lead

After being out of the spotlight for many years, Sexton's 1962 cross country team came to the front and gave fans a thrilling season. With 6 returning lettermen and Coach Reid's guidance the team went undefeated in dual meets. The Big Red harriers did equally as well at the invitational meets, placing first in the Napoleon meet, the Greyhound meet, and placing 4th at the Albion meet. Toward the close of the season, the runners placed first in the All City, 6-A League, and State Regional meets. At the State final meet, with competition from the entire state, the team made a fine showing and placed 7th

A highlight of the season was the record-breaking performance of Gordon Dewey against East Lansing, October 2. He completed the 2 mile course in 10.5 minutes bettering the old record by 5 seconds

Although Coach Reid will be losing 5 Varsity members by graduation, the prospects of the advancing Junior Varsity are promising

The swimming team lost many of their top men on last year's squad through graduation; the seniors on this year's squad were Captain Bill Rosenquist, Dave Badgley, Tom Zavitz, and Charles Selby. Even though the team is losing a lot of lettermen, next year's prospects are very good.

The Tankers, under Coach Matt Mann III, started the season on a bright note by placing second at the Saginaw Relays. The team's first dual meet was with East Lansing, where they dropped a five point decision 55-50, but followed with a 64-41 decision over East Grand Rapids. They then won three out of their next nine meets out swimming Kalamazoo and Lansing Everett twice, and finishing fifth in the 6-A meet.

Varsity Wrestling

The Wrestling team led by undefeated Dave Porter finished the season by placing 2nd in the state. The Big Reds had no trouble in taking the 6-A League Championship for a perfect 5-0 record. The only team which bested Sexton during the entire season was Flint Northern, the team which went on to take the state Class A Championship. The score was close all of the way, but Northern won 23 to 17. During the season the grapplers defeated Eastern twice, first 35 to 8, and the second time 35 to 11 in the Regionals. The wrestlers also won the undisputed city title.

The grapplers took four places in the State Finals. Dave Porter ended up the State Championship at heavyweight. Gary Hetherington placed second in the state. Lyle Belknap and Bob Bengt each finished third. Flint Northern compiled 57 points, while Sexton had a total of 42. Mr. Konrad is looking toward an even better season next year.

Sexton finished with a perfect 10-0 record to take the 6-A Championship in a breeze. Sexton opened the season against Grand Rapids South. The game went down to the wire, but South pulled it out in the last few seconds 61 to 60. Other losses in Sexton's 13-3 finish came from East Lansing, 59-49, and Saginaw Arthur Hill 72-57. The team averaged 62 a game while holding their opponents to 49 a game. In the final ratings, Sexton was rated 7th in the state.

Sexton missed the strong shooting and rebounding of Homer Scarborough who injured his leg near the end of the season. Tom Warriner played well in place of Scarborough. Other members of the starting team were sophomores John Holmes and Cliff Foster, junior Lorie Moore, and senior Dan Green. A strong bench led by Jesse James and Fred Charon came through many times. In the district tournament, Sexton beat Everett 60 to 45. In the second game of the tournament, Sexton beat Grand Ledge by a score of 87 to 60.

Sexton can look forward to a very fine team next year. With the help of members of this year's J.V.'s, they ought to really go a long way.

Sexton went on to win the district championship by defeating East Lansing 42 to 39. Sexton met Battle Creek in their first game of the regional and won 59 to 52. But in the regional championship game, Sexton was defeated by a sharp shooting Jackson team.

City Champs

Six-A Champs

Regional Champs

Under the coaching of Russ Maples, the 1962 track team experienced a most successful year. The Big Red thinclads won all their dual meets plus a first place rating in the Central Michigan Relays, the All-City Meet, the Six-A Meet, and the State Regional Meet.

Although the first dual meet with Grand Ledge was snowed out, our trackmen ran through the remainder of the dual meets with little competition. This extended the Big Red's winning streak in dual competition to 24 meets.

When it came time for the tournaments, our trackmen went in fighting all the way and came out on top in the City, Six-A, and Regional Meets

Sexton fans saw five records fall during the 1962 season. Among the record breakers were Jon Richardson, Russ Ridge, Lee White, and Jim Kelley in the mile relay. The high hurdle record fell at the hands of Bill Snell, and Roger Franks set a new record in the broad jump. Rounding out the new records were Dick Allen in the 220 yard dash, and Denny McDowell in the pole vault.

With many returning lettermen, the 1963 team is looking up, hoping to extend its long winning streak. With the leadership of Cooch Maples, several more records are expected to fall, and Sexton fans will be given another season of which to be very proud.

Sexton's baseball team finished the 1962 campaign with a record of five wins, eight losses, and one tie. Although this placed the team below the .500 mark, this record does not do justice to the hard play and good spirit our Big Reds showed. With 8 returning lettermen, the 1963 team ought to pose a real threat to the City and Six-A League.

The 1962 tennis team was the most successful one to represent Sexton on the courts in recent years. The team posted an eight win—five loss season record and finished third in the Six-A. Golf

The 1962 golf team was composed primarily of underclassmen. They posted a 3-7 record in the Six-A League and a 4-7 season record. There were two seniors, three juniors, and one sophomore on the 1962 team. With returning lettermen Dave Monroe, Dick Flading, Dan Patrick, and Larry Rogna, coach Ritchy should have a successful 1963 season.

Varsity Cheerleaders

Demonstrating unlimited energy and boundless enthusiasm, Sexton's varsity cheerleaders led the school through the year's athletic events. Always with a smile, these girls promoted school spirit and good sportsmanship. With plenty to yell about, our cheerleaders helped enhance the prestige of Sexton fans as well as our athletic teams. Their fine showing was an important asset to the success of our athletic year.

Junior Varsity Cheerleaders

Sexton's junior varsity cheerleaders have done much to promote school spirit. After many hours of hard practice, they demonstrated their ability and skill at each basketball game. These cheerleaders, chosen out of many, were judged on enthusiasm, coordination, neatness, personality, and poise.

Speed Swimming

Two weeks of concentrated, stamina-building practice cashed in a close second place for Sexton's speed-swimming group in the fall. The girls competed against swimmers from two rival Lansing schools, Eastern and Everett. Eastern's hardened swimmers just squeaked by Sexton, winning the meet by one point over Sexton and placing first. Everett took third place.

Girls' Bowling

Pam Forgrave goes in for a strike

A growing sport, bowling is enjoying ever-increasing popularity as is evident from the great number of G.A.A. members who bowled during the fall and the spring of the past year. The girls, under the direction of Miss Janet MacDonald, advisor, bowled at Westlawn Lanes once a week for eight weeks. In the fall, each team of girls competed against fifteen other teams. The victorious team members were: Nancy Perkins, Rayola Reibow, Mary Osbourn and Linda Pritchard.

First Place Team: J. Pritchard, M. Osbourne, M. Peckers, R. Row

G.A.A. Basketball

One of the most active and exciting sports for girls this year was basketball, for new concepts and rules have added to the freedom of the game for the female half of the school. The "roving player" idea was introduced, and the girls took full advantage of the new rules in game play. Teams were not homeroom teams but were made up of girls within each class

Miscellaneous

The last section of this yearbook is devoted to those miscellaneous items that help make Sexton complete. The Cooperative Workers represent an important educational advancement. The presentation of the All School Play is unique on a high school stage. A record of the June 1962 Awards has been included. The accomplishments and future plans of the Seniors are listed in the Senior Directory. Advertisements are an important part of any yearbook. Without this financial aid, the book would be too expensive to publish. For your convenience, an All School Index is available for reference. Last of all is the Editor's Note of the 1963 Oracle.

Cooperative Workers Learn on the Job

Cooperative occupational training serves several purposes. It gives training in occupations which the school does not provide. It also makes it possible to place graduates of business and industrial courses over the entire year rather than try to find jobs for everyone at graduation time. The training is always up to date, because it is done in business and industry on actual production jobs under the instruction of supervisors who presently earn their living working at the occupation they teach.

Co-op students, who must be seniors, may work either forenoons or afternoons and carry three school subjects the opposite half-day. They receive one credit for satisfactory completion of a semester of on-the-job training and, in addition, are paid by their employer for the work done.

In placing the students, the coordinator attempts to match the pupil to the job in terms of interest, aptitude, and personality so as to insure the pupil's success.

Ketti Frings' Look Homeward Angel has won both the Pulitzer Prize and the New York Critics' Award. It has become one of the most honored plays in all stage annals. Sexton High School was proud to present Look Homeward Angel as it was unique to the high school medium.

The angel of the title is carved from marble by an unknown artist. W. O. Gant, father of the central character, Eugene Gant, has tried to copy her in his stone-cutting yard, without success. The angel represents both the strivings and frustrations of the artist in his search for beauty and expression. It is also a symbol of the young man in the play and of Thomas Wolfe who took the name of Eugene Gant when writing Look Homeward Angel.

"You name it — We have it" seems to be the slogan of the Campus Book Club and the Teen Age Book Club here at Sexton. Under the guidance of a member of the faculty, Mabel Cosby Ford, the two clubs have been serving Sexton students for nearly ten years. The best in popular fiction, biography, travel — as well as the enduring all-time classics — have found their way into the lockers, and from there into the pick-of-the-paper-back libraries of Sexton students.

Juanita Grew and Kathy Kelley check in a shipment of Campus and Teen Age books.

Latin Club members, Barney Speight, Mary Gronner, and Marsha Butler, set out from Sexton to deliver Roman Banquet Invitations to Dr. Forrest G. Averitt, Superintendent of Schools.

Spanish Club members, Esther Pereida, Lynn Converse, and Carolyn Wood, arrange their display case for the Spanish Fiesta, El Club Coco.

Mr. Kenneth Drake looks over specifications for this year's ORACLE

Mr. Al Wonch is setting type for the yearbook

Creating and publishing a yearbook involves the work of many persons other than the yearbook staff. Without the help of these others, the book could not have been published.

Mr. Ken Drake, the sales representative from Edwards Brothers, Inc. of Ann Arbor, kept us in constant communication with the publisher. Mr. Al Wonch, of Wonch Graphic Service, set all the type for this book.

Several other persons helped with the photography. The services of the Norm Shaver Studio were always available to us.

The ORACLE staff would also like to thank the administration and faculty for their help, and also the custodians whose cooperation during the extra time work sessions proved invaluable.

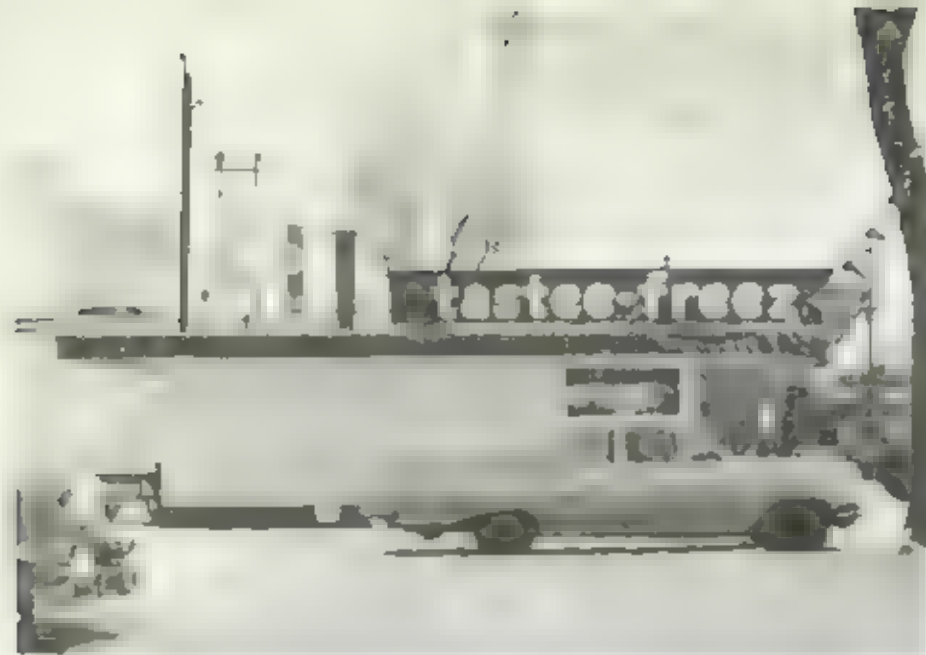

To these persons and to various others who aided the staff, we express our sincere appreciation.

Sports car buy of the year! No other car combines vivacity and value like the F-85 Cutlass . . . Oldsmobile's lowest-priced sports car! Foam-padded bucket seats . . . a high-compression aluminum V-8 engine (delivering up to 195 h.p.) . . . smart center control console* . . . all make Cutlass the practical way to move into the sports car class! Its maneuverability is a marvel, too. Turns full circle in just 37 feet! See the Cutlass . . . drive it at your Dealer's now.

April 11, 1963

Dear Reader,

In this, the 1963 Oracle, the staff has tried to portray a school year through the combination of words and pictures. We have tried to show some of the behind-the-scenes activities that are necessary to achieve success in everything from athletics to producing a play. We hope that we successfully carried out these goals.

I gratefully thank those persons who have given of their time and talent in the making of this 1963 Oracle. I have learned many valuable lessons in producing this book; I am grateful for these opportunities and am sure they will be of great use later in life. Only by close coordination of all concerned can a yearbook be produced. I give my heartfelt thanks to those who have worked so diligently and I hope they may not forget the pleasant memories and associations that only working on a yearbook can bring.

I wish that you, the reader, may enjoy this yearbook as much as we on the staff have enjoyed producing it.

Sincerely,

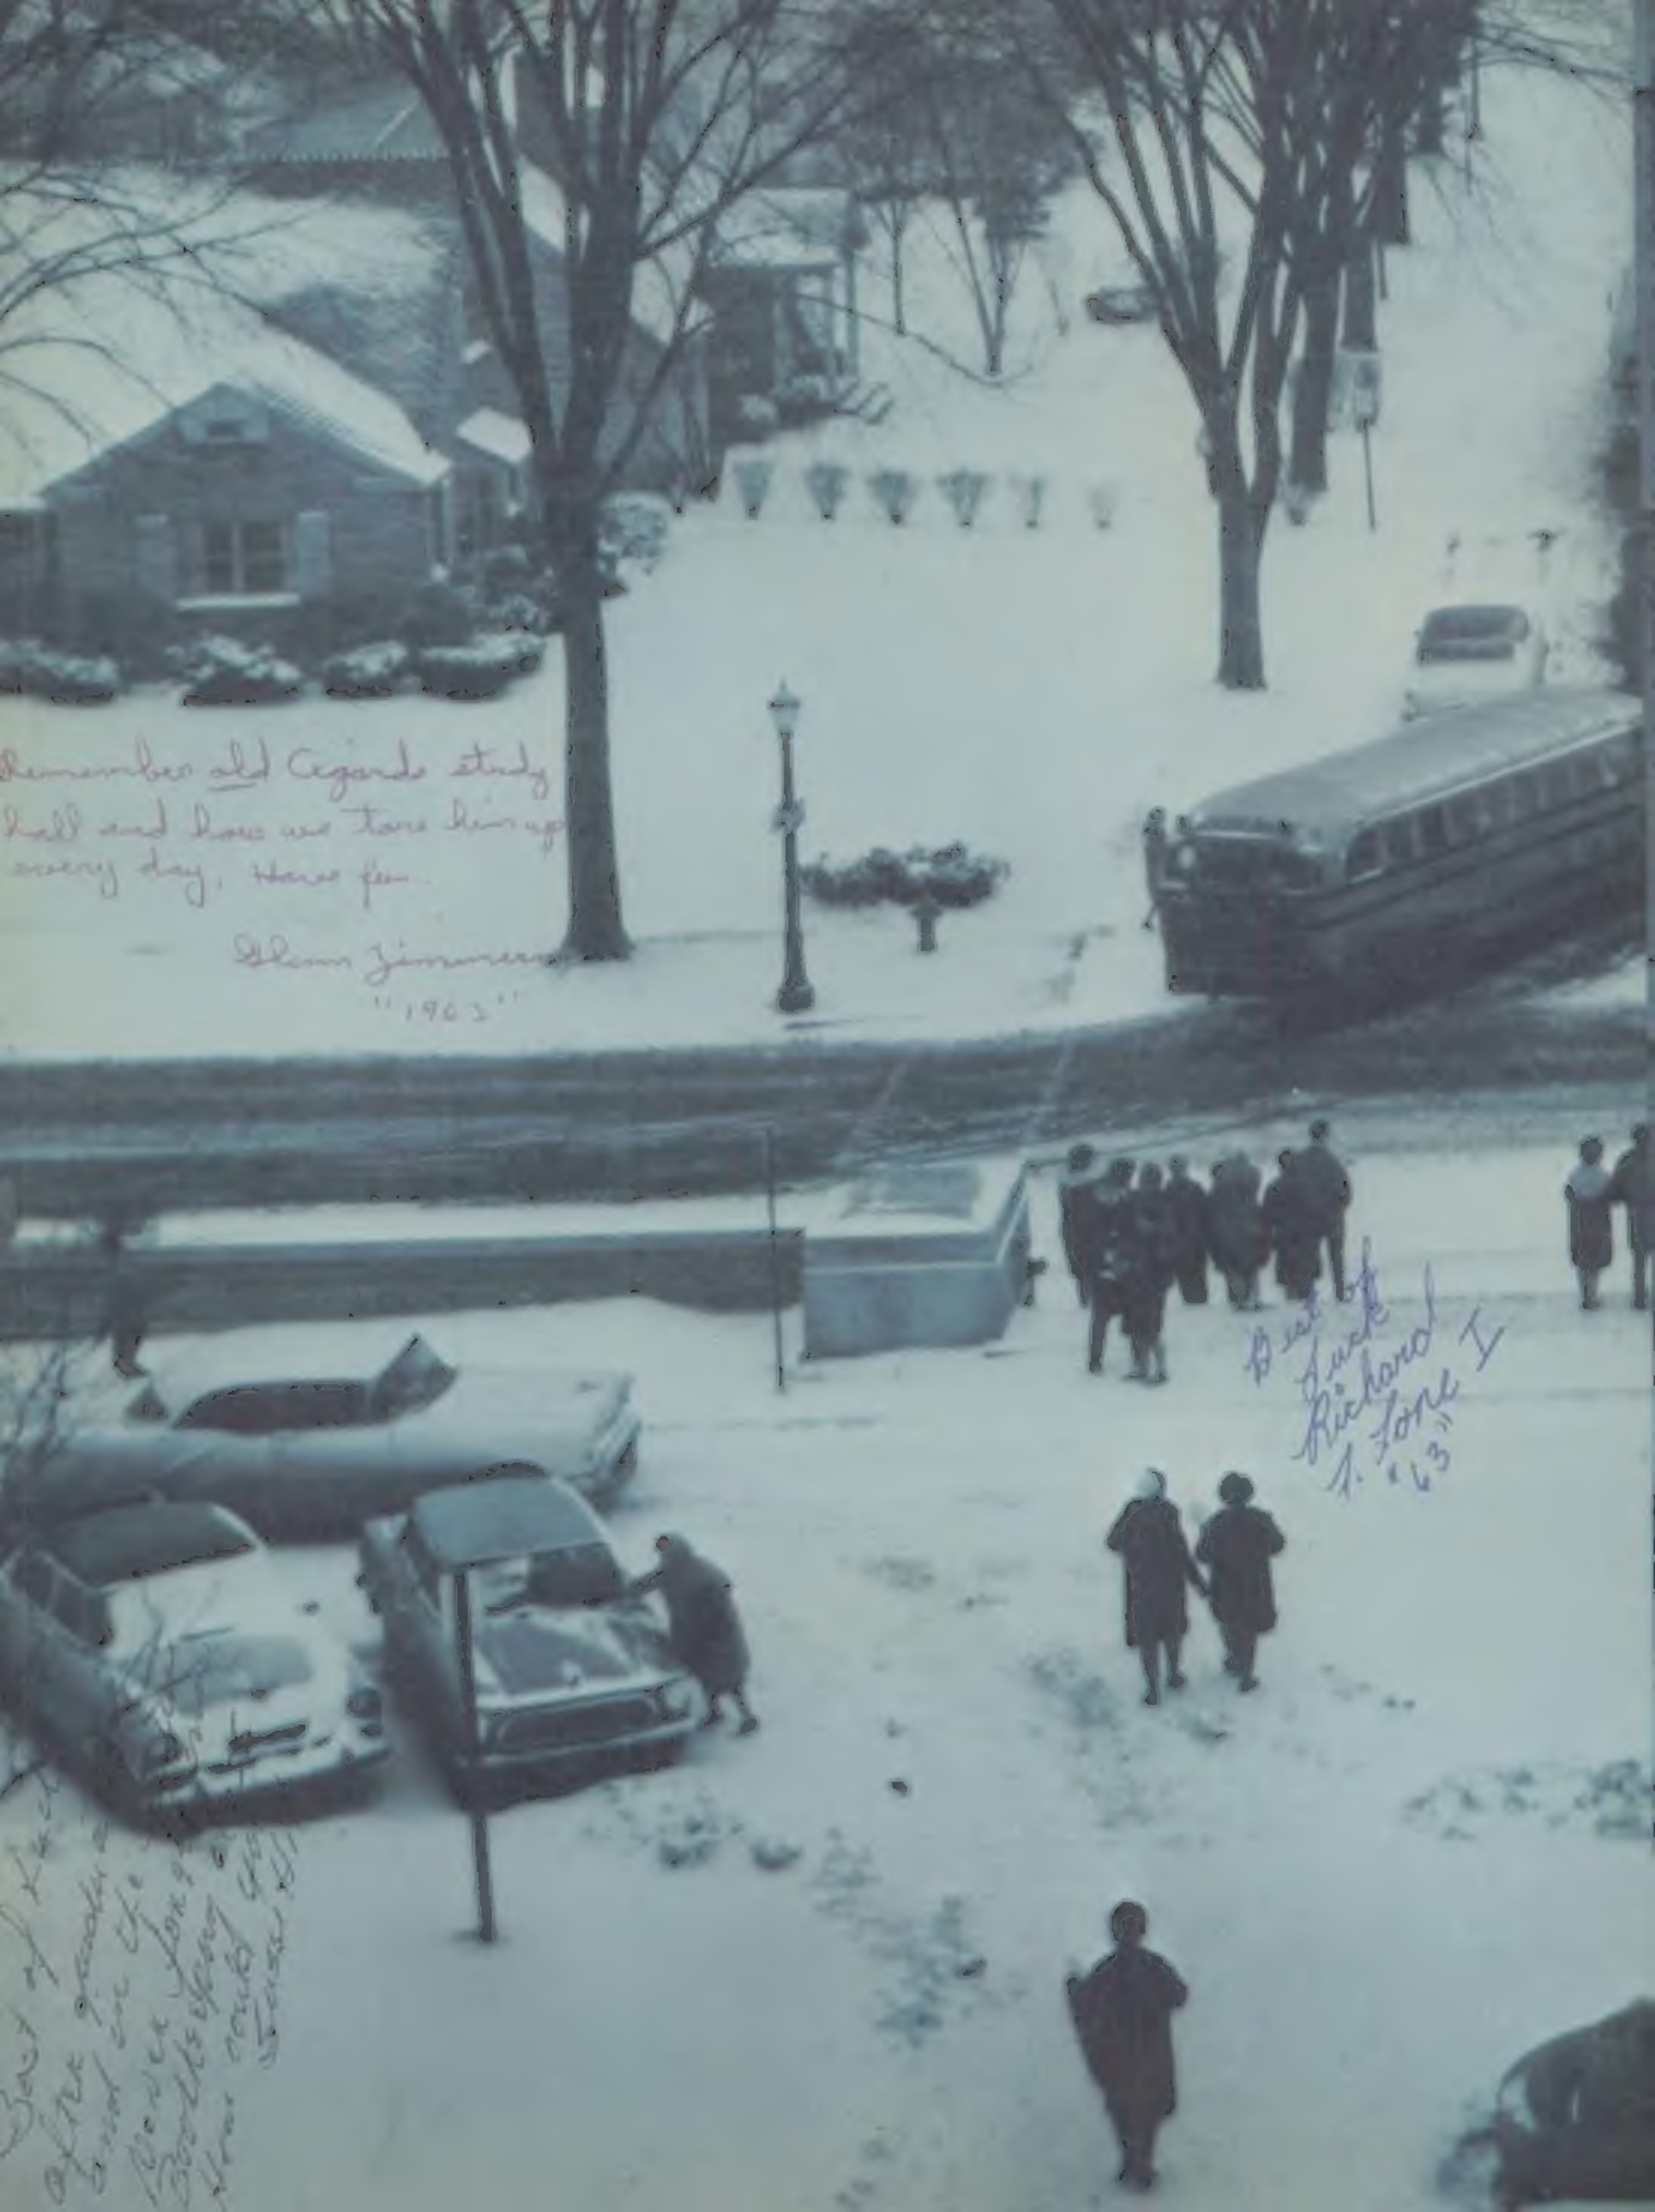

Charles Henderson
